Solving the Labor Shortage

The component manufacturing industry is dealing with significant labor shortages from crew leaders, to maintenance positions, to design technicians and draftsmen. In this presentation, Barry Dixon of True Truss in Jacksonville, FL and SBCA Staff member, Sean Shields will:

- Discuss the ways in which developing an effective labor pool is best accomplished through individual company efforts.
- Suggest resources, tools and organizations immediately available to increase your chances of finding the right employees.
- Examine industry best practices for finding and developing strong and sustainable applicant pools for your long-term hiring needs.

Bring your questions, comments and contributions. Together we will keep BCMC alive throughout the year and continue Building Community and Making Connections.
