

SBCA Annual Workshop & Conference

Tuesday, April 8
2 pm ET / 1 pm CT
12 pm MT / 11 am PT

The 2009 to 2012 IRC/IBC and How it Affects the SBC Industry

Several states are in the process of moving from the 2009 to the 2012 International Residential Code and International Building Code (IRC/IBC). Therefore, it is important to understand what the differences between the two model code versions mean for the structural building components industry and how it will potentially affect component manufacturers. In this presentation, Larry Wainright, Codes Manager for SBCA, will:

- Provide a brief overview of the model code development process;
- Discuss the new requirements in the 2012 IRC/IBC, and provide insight into the important ways in differs from the previous version;
- Summarize how these code changes may impact your manufacturing business; and,
- Provide strategies for adapting to and/or capitalizing on the new code requirements.

Bring your questions, comments and contributions. Together, we will keep BCMC alive throughout the year and continue Building Community and Making Connections.
